SAXAPHONE SUNDAY

We are a group of saxophonists based on the Mid Wales/South Shropshire border. We offer a wide range of music from light classical through Jazz to contemporary music. We play arrangements and music written especially for the saxophone., including arrangements written for us by our very own Anthea. We can perform in a variety of formations from three to six players. In fact we have been known to have ten saxophones between us ranging from the small soprano to the big baritone!

Our normal set up is but all of us play multiple instruments and do mix it up with different line ups.
